

Girl Scout curriculum book, Mission Sisterhood, page 20-21 asks girls to choose movies or TV shows “that include girls who are friends and see how the characters portray beauty in themselves and in their relationships.” Suggested movies include “Clueless” which ridicules virginity and features teen sexual activity and adolescent drug use. This movie has been rated “morally offensive” by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB).

See USCCB movie review of “Clueless”: <http://archive.usccb.org/movies/c/clueless.shtml>

page scan of Girl Scout curriculum book, Mission Sisterhood, page 21:

